The Triple Nickel: Black Paratroopers in Washington State during WWII

Presented by Robert L. Bartlett

What is Operation Firefly? It was May of 1945, when an elite unit made up of some of the Army's best trained paratroopers were assigned to a remote airstrip in Oregon as part of a highly classified mission known as Operation Firefly. This first all-black paratrooper unit's mission and service involving Washington State made quiet history and is all but forgotten. In a surprising and insightful presentation, Robert L. "Bob" Bartlett tells the tale of the "555." Trained by U.S. Forest Service Rangers, members of the 555 jumped on some 36 forest fires as first responders, including the 1945 Mt. Baker fire. In the process of helping to save our forests, they gained military fame as the first all-black "Airborne Infantry Firefighters."

Ripe for the Telling: Surprising Stories of Washington Fruit

Presented by Julia Harrison

What is the messy and juicy history of Washington's produce industry? From apples to oranges, huckleberries to durian, anthropologist Julia Harrison will cover how these perishable products preserve historic events and reflect our changing relationship to the natural world. This discussion includes a large cast of characters: pioneers, entrepreneurs, orchardists, labor activists, a horticultural prodigy and Cashmere's own "Cider King." Full of suspense, tragedy, triumph, heroism and even some romance, this presentation will reveal some of our state's juiciest stories. Beyond providing nutrition and injecting billions of dollars into Washington State's economy, fruit connects us to the past, to the environment, and to people we may never meet.
